

My baby is only days old and is suffering from multiple conditions. We're out of money to help him

I am Shaik Azeemuddin, the father of the child. I am a driver with a monthly income of Rs. 13,000 ($ 179). There wasn't even a day's break for my son; he was born on 5th of September this year, and soon after his birth he was put under special care. We didn't even get a chance to take our baby home or name him. The news of our son's condition was a huge shock, and I feel powerless when I realise that there is nothing I can do from my end to alleviate his condition. When he cries I cannot carry him in my arms to pacify him. We cannot see him go through this anymore. He is currently admitted in Ankura hospital and needs urgent medical attention.

With the money I earn, I can barely manage to run a household of four people. It is impossible for me to arrange for the funds needed to pay the medical bills. For all the tests that have been carried out until now, I have borrowed heavily from my friends and relatives and have also sold our gold. Our only hope now, is to save our son by the way of your generous contributions. You can save a life and make a difference, please lend your help.
