She's been enjoying something of a lifestyle overhaul over the past several months, after drastically cutting down on her hard-boozing ways.

And Kate Moss continued to display the results of her healthy new habits over the weekend, when she stepped out looking sensational in a skimpy string bikini during her yacht trip to Saint-Tropez, South of France.

Joined by her boyfriend Count Nikolai von Bismarck, 31, the 44-year-old supermodel wowed as she relaxed on the expansive deck of a luxury sea vessel with a host of friends and relatives.
