After actress Amy Jackson and Kamal Haasan's daughter Akshara Haasan, whose private photos were leaked on social media, South Actress Hansika Motwani is the latest victim of cyber crime.

The actress, who was last seen in Vikram Prabhu-starrer Thuppaki Munai, has landed in trouble as her intimate pictures from her recent holiday in New York have found their way to the internet. Reportedly, many pictures of the actress have been posted and taken off from social media. However, these private pictures of the actress are still available on Instagram.

Well, Hansika hasn't issued a statement regarding this cyber crime on social media, nor has she filed a police complaint against the hackers. Find below the pictures that have been leaked online. In most of these pictures, Hansika is clad in a bikini.

Take a look!

Earlier, Akshara, who became a victim of cyber crime last year, had registered a complaint against an unknown person for allegedly leaking her intimate pictures on the Internet under the Information and Technology Act. Watch this space for further updates.
