She's pathed a successful career from her drunken antics on the controversial MTV show. And Chloe Ferry was back to doing what she does best as she looked very worse-for-wear during a Geordie Shore night out in Newcastle at Tup Tup Palace on Tuesday.

The reality star, 23, was pictured barefoot as she stumbled out the nightclub in the early hours of the morning.

Chloe was seen falling to the floor with her boyfriend Sam Gowland nowhere to be seen. However, lucky for Chloe, the show's newest cast members were able to help her as Bethan Kershaw got her back on her feet.
