

Lilly Becker, 42, suffers a VERY unfortunate wardrobe malfunction as she loses her bikini top after

14/04/2019 19:45 by admin

Lilly Becker suffered a very unfortunate wardrobe malfunction as she took to the ocean in Miami, Florida, on Saturday.

The 42-year-old Dutch beauty was swimming in the crystal clear water when she suddenly lost her bikini top during a huge wave.

However, despite the unfortunate wardrobe malfunction, Lilly still made sure she enjoyed her day out at beach as she soaked up the Florida sunshine.

Lilly looked incredible as she showcased her toned figure in a white crochet knitted halterneck bikini with matching bottoms.

She teamed the items of swimwear with a blue hair wrap, which she used to tuck back her curly brunette locks.

Lilly also added a pair of oversized black sunglasses and a collection of necklaces to finish her holiday look.

Â Â Â Â

Later in the day, the stunning model decided to cover up with a leopard print kaftan, which she wrapped around her waist.

Lilly is currently on holiday with her nine-year-old son Amadeus Benedict Edley Luis Becker, whom she shares with her estranged husband Boris Becker.

The model's break comes amid reports she is in the 'final stages' of divorcing Boris, after the couple announced their split last year.

In December, Lilly reflected on the past year amid her split from her husband of nine years during an interview with GÃ¼nther Jauch on Germany's RTL.

Â Â

Â Â

The brunette admitted the couple will never rekindle their relationship, insisting: 'It's really over between us.'

Reflecting on the past year, the Dutch beauty bluntly said: '2018 was the worst time of my 42 years. He so grossly disappointed me.'

Speaking on the negative effects of being in the limelight, she went on: 'What makes it so bad is that everything is happening in public now. But I married a public man, maybe it's part of it.'

The brunette ruled out a reunion with her former world No. 1 professional tennis player: 'Unfortunately, that does not work anymore. Too much has happened. I do not want to, he does not, and that's fine. It's really over between us.â€™™

Â Â Â Â

Lilly added that the pair's priority is their son Amadeus: 'The most important thing is that the future of Amadeus is well arranged. It's not about Boris or me.'

'It concerns the joint custody. He can see his son whenever he wants. Amadeus loves his father, and he loves him', she went on.

Boris and Lilly confirmed their breakup via a German lawyer last year, in a statement given to Bild newspaper.

Lawyer Christian-Oliver Moser said: 'The decision after a 13-year-long relationship and nine years of marriage wasn't an easy one.'

- DM