Instagram model Jay Alvarez, 23, has been slammed for sharing this 'degrading' image

An Instagram model has sparked outrage by sharing a naked mirror selfie with his girlfriend, which has been slammed as "degrading".

Hawaiian-born Jay Alvarez, 23, shared the X-rated image of himself with Italian model Valentina Fradegrada on Saturday.

The model girlfriend Valentina Fradegrada is completely naked in the shot - but seems unfazed by all the drama

The pair aren't wearing a stitch of clothing, with nothing but some carefully placed hands to cover Valentina's modesty.

The pic racked up 615,000 likes - but not everyone's impressed.

“This is honestly disgusting and I feel so sorry for this girl,” one of Jay's 6.3 million Instagram followers commented.

“Sad how you brag this woman as an object. Sadder how she doesn't know her value,” a second said.

Valentina is no stranger to a nude social media shot

Others asked: “Dude, how can you show your girl to the world like this?” and dismissed the couple as “Desperate for likes”.

One user slammed Jay for his “degrading” caption, which reads: “I wish you were my big toe so I could bang you on every piece of furniture in my house.”

Another unimpressed follower simply said: “This is waaaaay to much”.

She's also the creator of the 'upside down bikini'

But Valentina was unfazed, commenting with a string of emojis including the crying with laughter and devil faces.

As her 1.7 million followers will already be aware, the model is no stranger to a nearly naked Instagram shot.

You may also remember her as the creator of the famous 'upside down bikini'.

This mum was dubbed a "hero" for her hilarious tribute to the risque craze.

It's not known how long the pair have been dating, but Jay's ex-girlfriend is saucy surfer and swimwear model Alexis Ren.
