A NUDIST Instagrammer has revealed the best places to strip off and take photographs.

An Instagrammer has revealed the best places for naked photographs

Rather surprisingly, the best place in the world is Iceland - as long as the weather is okay.

Svetlana Reus, who goes by the name Lighty_Light on social media, has posed naked in countries all around the world, including Australia, Bali and the Maldives.

Yet it is the colder country of Iceland which she says is the best place for posing without any clothes on.

She said: "I was naked in boundless lupine fields with a breathtaking view of the mountains, then in front of the secret waterfall surrounded by incredible green colour.

"You can easily find a beautiful hidden spot there."

She says Iceland is the best place for pics

She has travelled from Bali to the Maldives taking photographs

The 30-year-old Instagrammer, who many have likened to Emilia Clarke's Game of Thrones character Daenerys Targaryen, has her husband of five years take the naked photographs as they travel.

She admits, however, that he is more modest than she is and doesn't like to be naked or named.

The pair met in 2014 before getting married in Las Vegas in 2015.

Since then, they have renewed their vows somewhere new every year, including a Buddhist ceremony in Thailand, an Arabic wedding in the UAE and an Inca marriage in Peru.

Her next destination to strip off will be Hawaii

Svetlana says the image are tasteful, not gratuitous

The beauty admits that travelling became her passion in 2010

Svetlana now more than 20,000 followers, perhaps unsurprisingly thanks to the many naked pictures and stunning landscapes.

While the freelance IT manager currently lives in Greece, because of the "good climate," she admits her "heart belongs in Tanzania and South Africa," with her next destination being Hawaii.

She explained: "Travelling became my addiction in 2010 when I had my first trip.

"Nature inspires me to pose naked. I carefully select pictures so they look artistic but not vulgar."

Australians are also stripping off around the world with a naked Instagram account called Get Naked Australia.

The body positivity account shares people of all shapes and sizes posing around the country.

We've also revealed the best nudist beaches across Europe for anyone brave enough to strip off.
