In one snap she kneels on the sand in a classy striped number with her hands behind her head and a big smile on her face.

She stares seductively at the camera while sitting on some steps in another, wearing a plunging multi-coloured cossie.

Calendar owners' heart rates will rev up when they see her hanging out the door of a white jeep in a third snap.

Kelly is pretty in pink in a vibrant bikini she teams with a white denim jacket, while she displays her toned legs in a floral bikini for another pic.

Earlier this year Kelly revealed that she has banned her male Heart radio colleagues from calling her a "sex symbol".

The glamour girl has warned her workmates against bringing up her saucy modelling shoots in the office as it is unprofessional.

Speaking on her daily show, Kelly explained: "I've never felt like I was [a sex symbol], but some of the blokes at work often tell me that they had posters of me on their wall.

Kelly scolded colleagues who brought up her saucy calendars

"I just remind them that we donâ€™t talk about that stuff in the workplace, and they will panic and quickly change the subject."

However, she insisted that there are no hard feelings as she added: "Itâ€™s all said in good jest."

The brunette beauty is famed for her busty calendar photoshoots - with her edition beating other celebs to the top of the best-selling list last year.
