New Delhi (India): In yet another hocking incident, a woman was allegedly raped in a moving bus while she was returning to Delhi. In her complaint, the woman said that she was sitting in the driver's cabin in the deluxe double-decker night bus where she was allegedly raped by conductor/cleaner.

However, when the bus reached the Maant toll station in Mathura, she managed to raise an alarm. There were total 40 passengers on the bus when the incident took place, but none of them were aware of the crime.

“She called the 112 helpline number on Saturday morning when the bus reached Mant toll plaza and informed us about the rape by the bus cleaner,” police said.

The woman and the accused Ravi were instructed to get down after which the bus was checked, police stated, after which it left for Delhi. Later, the woman underwent a medical examination.

Afterwards, she was escorted back to her home in Rohini, Delhi under police supervision, while the accused Ravi, a resident of Bahraich district, has been sent to judicial custody, the police added.

Maant police station in charge Bheem Singh Javla said a case had been registered against the conductor/helper and further investigations are underway.
