The Austin Powers star was outside her pile in Herefordshire.

She posted the snap online, adding: "How could I resist?"

She also revealed the photographer was model Damian, 18.

Liz has kept lockdown lively by frolicking in the sunshine in a range of bikinis and churning out jars of home-made marmalade between sipping on cocktails.

With the first lockdown looming in March last year, Liz headed to her Grade-II listed country manor, slipping into a skimpy black dress.

"Why go out when you can stay in?" she told her social media followers as the stay-in orders were given out.

Liz added: "Why buy a new dress when you can squeeze into one you've had for 15 years?"
