She knows how to have a good time. And Farrah Abraham made the best of the sunny weather as she soaked up the sun in a barely-there bikini while combing the beach in Miami on Saturday afternoon.

The former Teen Mom star looked completely at ease as she played in the waves while enjoying a day to herself after attending an event at Donald Trump's Mar-a-Lago resort.

Soaking up the sun! Farrah Abraham was spotted stepping into the waves at a Miami beach on Saturday afternoon after attending a fundraiser at Mar-a-Lago the day before

Showing it off: The reality television personality showed off her beach body in a revealing gray-green bikini while enjoying the coastal weather

Letting it flow: The former Teen Mom cast member's dyed blonde hair was on full view as she played in the cool ocean water
