The stunning blonde first hit the scene six years ago while showing off her enviable curves in Carl's Jr Super Bowl commercial.

She opened up about how the viral ad had stilted her acting career, saying: "I've been put squarely in a box and I'm still in that box."

"There's nothing wrong with it necessarily but it's been a struggle to try and get out of."

McKinney first found herself in the spotlight through her sexy Instagram page.

She now boasts 1.5million followers and caught the attention of Wilhelmina Models and fashion brand Guess.

Earlier this year, the blonde beauty proved that she is not just a pretty face.

She treated her Instagram followers to a video of her ice skating at a disco-themed rink.
