Donna D'Errico looked stunningly youthful at 53 in a new Instagram series she posted on Thursday. The platinum blonde did not look a day older than when she starred on Baywatch as busty lifeguard Donna Marco in the 1990s.

In her new album she showed off her sensationally toned figure in a barely-there white bikini while twirling around a Neapolitan umbrella.

Looking fab: Donna D'Errico looked stunningly youthful at 53 in a new Instagram album she posted on Thursday

Aglow: The platinum blonde did not look a day older than when she starred on Baywatch as busty lifeguard Donna Marco in the 1990s

Glowing: In her new album she showed off her sensationally toned figure in a barely-there white bikini while twirling around a Neapolitan umbrella

When you got it: Letting her luxurious hair down she sharpened her screen siren features with makeup and balanced on a pair of nude stilettos

Radiant: In her caption she plugged the Naples-based shop where her floral umbrella is from, gushing: 'I never knew umbrellas could be masterpieces!'

'Exquisite': She wrote: 'Look at this one I'm holding,' gushing: 'The photos just don't do it justice' and noting: 'Handcrafted in Italy by master craftsman @mario_talarico_since_1860'

Lap of luxury: The blonde actress, who in recent years has guest starred on such shows as Brooklyn Nine-Nine, wrote: 'I'm almost afraid to use it!'

History: Way back in 1996 she earned her Donna Marco role on Baywatch where she remained for two seasons until 1998

As seen in 2003: Personally 1996 was also an eventful year for Donna who married Motley Crue bassist Nikki Sixx that year before splitting from him in 2006
