A Mother has been slammed for repeatedly kissing her young daughter on the lips on a train in a TikTok video.

But others have rushed to defend her after the clip went viral and sparked a debate whether or not the smooches were appropriate.

The TikTok showed the mother and daughter repeatedly kiss for eight seconds

The mother has received backlash - as well as support - on social media

The video shows the small child standing on a Sydney train seat leaning over its back towards her mum.

The mother holds on to her daughters hands while the pair kiss repeatedly for eight seconds with their eyes closed.

The video is accompanied with â€œromanticâ€• music of a woman singing and was posted with several hashtags including â€œkidsâ€•, â€œkissâ€•, â€œkisstimeâ€• and â€œmother daughter bondâ€•.

Some social media users were shocked by the overload of public affection.

The clip was filmed on a train in Sydney

One wrote: â€œSerious question, why did you kiss your kid like that?

â€œThat doesn't make any sense to me and I would like to hear your reasoning.â€•

Another added: â€œWhy are you making out with your child on a train? Why?â€•

While a third said: â€œDo not kiss your child like that.â€•

However other parents came to the defense of the mother

One said: â€œShe isn't even kissing her kid.

â€œShe is just standing there and that's her child doing it all,' one wrote in defense of the mother.

â€œCalm down.â€•

The mother has now turned the comments off on the video after receiving such negative comments.
