Britney Spears went topless in a racy new Instagram photo that shocked fans as she continues to fight dad Jamie in her conservatorship battle.

The pop star left little to the imagination on Friday when she stunned in a skin-baring post wearing ONLY teeny-tiny denim shorts.

The dancer and singerâ€™s breasts were covered with her hands as she pushed her chest together for some serious cleavage.

Britney, 39, showed off her figure by keeping her little shorts unbuttoned as she stared into the camera.

Her long blonde hair was pinned behind her head as she struck a post in the backyard of her Thousand Oaks home.

Fans were shocked by the risquÃ© snap, with one commenting: â€œOMG WOW girl no you did notâ€¦ she really went there!!!â€• â€œUm excuse me Ms. Brit but need to put a warning before giving us these fire posts unannounced,â€• a second commented.

â€œYAS to Brit baring it all she hasnâ€™t rocked me to this extent in so long,â€• another wrote.

BRITNEY BARES ALL

While many insisted the pop princess looked â€œso hotâ€• and of course mentioned to â€œFree Britney.â€•

The former Mickey Mouse Club member has been more vocal on social media since scoring a big conservatorship win earlier this month.

On Wednesday, she even promised that she's "not even close" to saying "all I needed to say" in a stark warning to those who controlled her finances and health decisions for almost 14 years.

Alongside a series of dice that spelled "one day at a time," Britney promised her fans she was "just getting here" after years of being "told to stay quiet."

She captioned the post: "So I said 'life goes on' in one of my recent posts but itâ€™s always easier said than done !!!!!

"In that moment thatâ€™s what felt was the easiest to say but I think we all know that I will never be able to let go and fully move on until Iâ€™ve said all I needed to say â€¦ and Iâ€™m not even close !!!!"

She added: "I was told to stay quiet about things for so long and I finally feel like Iâ€™m just getting here!!!!"

Just days before, she went after her sister Jamie-Lynn, calling her a â€œmean aâ€• â€œfake supporterâ€• during her years of conservatorship â€œabuse.â€•

SLAMMING SISTER

The pop icon shared a clip of her dancing and took to the caption to continue bashing her family - which she has been more vocal about since her big court win on Wednesday.

Jamie Lynn, 30, showed off her cleavage in a revealing red outfit alongside a message that appeared to be for her older sister.

â€œMay the peace of the lord be with you, and your spirit,â€• the Zoey 101 actress said on Instagram.

Hours later, Britney, 39, responded to her siblingâ€™s words with a revamped version of the same quote.

â€œMay the Lord wrap your mean a up in joy todayâ€¦.â€• the entertainer fired off on social media.

Earlier in July, she scored a major victory in her conservatorship battle with her father, Jamie Spears.

The Sun confirmed that Judge Penny has permitted the hiring of Britney's legal choice, Mathew S. Rosengart, who was a former federal prosecutor, to represent her.

Following the ruling, Britney told the court in Los Angeles that she wanted Jamie to be charged with conservatorship abuse.
