Helena Christensen hits all the right notes posing in lingerie next to her piano.

The Danish supermodel, 52, shared a series of scantily clad photos with her 849,000 Instagram followers to promote Coco De Mer lingerie.

Helena, who has previously modelled for Victoria's Secret, Chanel and Versace, said she is "obsessed" with the slinky underwear which she wore with black heels and a chunky necklace.

That's one Hel of a look!

Last year the stunning model made waves online with some candid beach snaps.

But being in front of the camera didn't always appeal to the former Victoria's Secret angel.

She said: "When I was first approached, when I was 20, I couldn't think of anything worse.

"I found it a bit of an odd career move to have a job that basically had you in front of a camera with a team of people making you up, changing the way you look.

"It seemed a strange idea."
