Camila Cabello sent temperatures soaring in a thong bikini as she hit the beaches of Miami on Monday.Â

The Cinderella actress, 24, put on a very cheeky display as she basked in the sunshine wearing an itsy bitsy yellow swimsuit.

Heads turned as the songbird emerged from the water with her raven locks slicked back wet over her head and her stunning figure front and center.

The hit-maker was a sight to behold as she made her way onto dry land after a rejuvenating dip in the sea.

The singer/dancer looked relaxed enjoying some fun in the sun after an action-packed few weeks which saw her attend the Met Gala and perform at the VMAs.

Now that she's enjoying a little break from work, the songstress looked peaceful wading in the shallow depths of the ocean in a scalloped bikini that left very little of her dance-honed body to the imagination. Â

The songstress floated in the water and laid seductively by the crashing waves.
