Breastfeeding My Boyfriend viewers left 'grimacing' over the 'sucking and squelching noises' in biz

26/10/2021 20:00 by admin

Breastfeeding My Boyfriend viewers were left 'grimacing' after hearing the sound of an adult man suckling milk from his partner's breasts.

Breastfeeding My Boyfriend viewers were left grossed out after enduring the sound of a fully-grown man suckling milk from his partner's breasts. Pictured, Korean-born Tip and his partner Button, who now live in the US

In last night's Channel 4 documentary, Korean-born Tip and his partner Button, who now live in the US, explained how they do not see adult breastfeeding as a 'fetish.'

However, the couple went on to say how they sell videos online which show them partaking in the rather unusual breastfeeding habit.

And those who tuned in were left horrified when Tip was seen lying across Button's lap on the sofa and 'latching on,' while the camera zoomed in and captured every noise as he sucked from her breasts.

'The sucking and squelching noises are just too much. It's an actual turn off instead of turn on for me,' wrote one, while a second penned: 'I'm grimacing when that s starts.'

The couple (pictured), who say they do not see adult breastfeeding as a 'fetish,' sell videos online which show them partaking in the rather unusual breastfeeding habit

A third added: 'Oh god. The noise!!! The noise!!!' while a further penned: 'The sound of a grown man latching on a t is going to haunt my dreams tonight.'

Elsewhere, a further simply admitted: 'I feel ill!!!'

The pair went on to say how they initially discovered there was a community for adult breastfeeding after they created a video which they shared on an online porn site.

Since then, the clip has been viewed over 300,000 times, with Tip explaining: 'I kind of figured people would get the wrong idea about it, but in general people really got what we were trying to convey.'

Tip was seen lying across Button's lap on the sofa and 'latching on,' while the camera zoomed in and captured every noise as he sucked from her breasts (pictured)

Describing the reaction they've received from people online, Button said: 'People just came out of the woodwork. They were saying, "Please can we have more?" We can't find it anywhere.'

She continued: 'It was really, really exciting to learn that we were not alone in having this sort of relationship.

'We decided to share our adult nursing relationship because it's such a big part of our livesâ€¦ People think it's a sex life thing, but it's part of our lives, it's part of our relationship.'

'The only way to share that with anybody is through a porn site, because you can't just share it on Facebook.'

Tip explained he was abandoned in a Korean orphanage and wasn't breastfed as a baby, and suggested that may be why he's 'drawn to it so much as an adult now.' Pictured, with Button

Describing how the process makes her feel, Button added: 'We will always make the time because it is important emotionally and physically to us.'

'It feels like sinking into a warm bath and a feeling of contentment. I feel more close to him now than I feel during any other time.

'This is incredibly intimate. I feel very protective and that he is precious to me.' Â

The couple were also seen holding a question and answer type session which they recorded for their fans online.

In response to one person who was intrigued about the taste of the milk, Tip explained it's like 'cold cereal milkâ€¦ milk with a little bit of sugar in it.'

He added: 'Sometimes I can taste alcohol when we've really been boozing it up.'

Tip went on to explain how he was abandoned in a Korean orphanage and said: 'I wasn't breastfed as a baby, which is probably why I'm drawn to it so much as an adult now.'

Elsewhere, the couple, who are joined at the hip and even work together in a warehouse, were pictured heading home after a nightshift.

Walking down the street, Button moaned that her breasts were hurting and told Tip: 'Baby, I desperately need you to nurse. I'm hurting. Sure you don't want to do it in the car?'

However, Tip responded by insisting her would rather 'nurse' at home where he's able to kick back and 'relax.'

- DM